

Winter Holiday Celebrations

	Still Working 1	You've Got It 2	Wow! Exceptional! 3	Score
The group members worked together cooperatively.	The group needed a lot of assistance from the teacher in order to get along together.	The group got along most of the time with reminders from the teacher.	The group got along well without any assistance or reminders from the teacher.
The group followed the directions of the assignment and stayed on task.	The group members had difficulty following directions and staying on task.	The group members were usually working productively and followed most of the directions of the project.	The group members were always working productively and followed all of the directions of the project.
The group learned new information about the holiday they studied.	The group only answered a few of the questions about the holiday they studied.	The group answered most of the questions, but they could have learned more about the holiday they studied.	The group learned a lot of new information about the holiday they studied.
The group created an informative	The poster contained very few facts written in complete sentences. The poster included only a couple of	The poster contained answers to some of the questions as well as pictures. Some of the information was	The poster contained answers to most of the questions, written in complete sentences, and it also poster about their holiday.	pictures.	written in complete sentences.	included pictures.

The group taught the rest of the class about their holiday in a clear and informative presentation.	Not all group members had a speaking part. The presentation lacked organization and was not well rehearsed.	All group members had a speaking part. The presentation was somewhat organized and had been rehearsed.	All group members had a speaking part. The presentation was well organized and interesting. It was clear that the group practiced a lot.
